

Women in Science

Sponsored by the Communication Department,
Women's History and More, the Bakersfield
College Alumni Association, and the Norman
Levan Center for the Humanities.

Women's History and More

Mission Blue • Thursday, March 5 Forum East • 6:30 to 8:30 pm

Mission Blue (<http://mission-blue.org/mission-blue-film/>) explores how Dr. Sylvia Earle became one of the first female oceanographers and marine biologists in the United States. This groundbreaking documentary exposes the urgent need for an international alliance to create protected marine sanctuaries worldwide. Bakersfield College Assistant Professor of Communications, Andrea Thorson will introduce the film and lead a discussion of the powerful film.

Challenges for Women in Science and How to Navigate Through the Corporate World • Wednesday, March 11 • Norman Levan Center for the Humanities • 6:30 to 8:00 pm.

Paola Colindres Campo works as a food scientist at one of the largest food companies in the US. She currently works on creating new food products as well as working on "out of the box" research and working closely with external suppliers. During her time at General Mills, she has had the opportunity to work with big companies like Tyson, Kraft, Ingredion, Dupont and Cargill.

Pushing Boundaries • Thursday, March 19 SE 53 • 1 p.m. to 2 p.m.

Taylor Herren, recipient of the AIBS Emerging Public Policy Leadership Award and Chico State University graduate student, played a leading role in a successful campaign that resulted in the CSU system adopting a sustainability policy. Ms. Herren's presentation focuses on the importance of women taking leadership roles on campus and in the sciences.

All events are free and open to the public with free parking.

Visit us on the web at womenshistorymonthatbc.weebly.com. For more information contact Erin Miller at emiller@bakersfieldcollege.edu or call (661) 395-4350

Accommodation Info: Accommodations, including interpreting services, are available upon request. Please submit requests at least ten working days in advance to Erin Miller at emiller@bakersfieldcollege.edu.

BAKERSFIELD
COLLEGE